Granite City Council members enacted on final passage Tuesday night a 1973-74 appropriation ordinance projecting expenditures of $5,580,223 during the current fiscal year.

The new budget was given final passage in a surprise move after several aldermen had said during a discussion of the appropriation measure that they would approve only a first reading of the measure in Tuesday's meeting.

The appropriation total was determined after the council spent nearly an hour acting on a series of reductions totaling more than $135,000 that were recommended by Mayor Paul Sena. The original budget ordinance called for expenditures of $5,675,385. The new budget is an increase of $114,452 over last year's budget of $5,560,933, but the aldermen noted that this year's appropriation includes $800,000 for sewer break repairs and $785,641 in revenue sharing items that were not in last year's appropriation.

Among major cuts authorized by the council before passing the budget was reduction from seven to four the proposed number of new policemen. The original budget draft called for seven men men at a salary cost of $64,822, but the council agreed to reduce this to four men at $38,044, or a saving of $26,778.

The appropriation also provides salary increases of approximately 6 percent for all city employees, although Alderman Sam Whitmer, chairman of the council's negotiating committee, said that the police department is seeking an additional 1 percent that would be in conflict with the agreement with all other employees.

Among major budgeted items were those for the Fire Department, set at $606,345, compared with $567,542 last year; Police Department, $653,111, compared with $553,826, and the street department, $400,514, compared with $366,533 a year ago.

The new appropriation also provides for two additional firemen at a salary cost of $30,400. The original budget draft called for four firemen, but this was reduced early in the budget discussions.

Included in the new appropriation bill are $1,154,883 in general fund expenditures, $758,641 in expenses to be financed with federal revenue sharing funds, and $3,163,033 in other fund accounts. In addition to these amounts, the budget provides for expenditure of $532,261 in the treatment fund account, $25,000 in the parking meter account and $26,538 in the air pollution account.

Where's fire? — commissioner finds answer, to his sorrow

"Your house is on fire," firemen told George Becker, a member of the board of fire and police commissioners, as he was helping conduct a firemen's employment exam at the main fire station at 10 a.m. Saturday. When the alarm rang, firemen rushed to the Becker home at 2391 Waterman Ave. They limited the damage to $200 to the building and $300 to the contents of the one-story brick structure. Firemen attributed the mishap to boys playing with matches. Fire fighters were on the scene for about 30 minutes.

"MINUTE MAN" FLAG has been awarded to Granite City Steel Co. by Henry D. Karandjeff of Granite City Trust and Savings Bank, left, on behalf of the U.S. Treasury Department in recognition of the company's 50 per cent-plus enrollment in the Payroll Savings Plan for buying Savings Bonds. Karandjeff, who has been Madison-St. Clair County Bond chairman since 1941, makes presentation to GCS chairman Nicholas P. Veeder, right, and operations vice-president Bob McBride, who was Bond Drive chairman. Flag is flown on GCS Steelworks flagpole at 30th Street and Madison Avenue. A total of 52 per cent of employees now purchase bonds regularly through deductions from paychecks.

Lottery is likely

Springfield—Passage of lottery legislation in the fall session of the Illinois General Assembly appears likely.

When the General Assembly was in session for the first six months of this year it was decided to put off action in the Senate until the October session. The move came during the hectic dying days of the six-month session.

The bill, introduced in the House by Rep. E. J. "Zeke" Giorgi, D-Rockford, passed the House without much difficulty. It was sent to the Senate and Giorgi showed confidence that it would win passage there.

The measure cleared the Senate Executive Committee, and an informal nose count showed the bill in the Senate had 30 votes, the amount needed for passage.

Final action on the bill became embroiled with a squabble over formation of a Regional Transit Authority (RTA) for northeastern Illinois.

At one time, a plan was pushed to have some of the funds of the proposed lottery, which would be operated by the state, earmarked to help finance the RTA.

Other suggestions also were made in the Senate. One called for placing of a state lottery under the direction of the Revenue Department, rather than under a commission as sought in the bill. Funds from the statewide lottery would be used basically to finance public schools. Supporters of the lottery point out that this would be one way to take some pressure off the ever-increasing real estate tax burden.

Some of the proceeds also would be used for mental health.

Eight states presently have a statewide lottery. They are New Hampshire, New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Nevada and California.

Remodel bank

Raul Lichtenberger, chairman of First Granite City National Bank, has announced plans for a complete remodeling of the bank's drive-in system.

"After a thorough study of the various types of modern equipment available, we chose the Diebold Captive Carrier Remote Banking System, the newest system being offered on today's market," Lichtenberger said.

"Our will be the first installation of this type in the St. Louis Metropolitan Area, and the Illinois area south of Chicago."

A total of six drive-in units will be constructed, comprised of five remote service units and a window unit, replacing the four window units which have been in service since 1960. The remote service units will be connected to the Teller station by pneumatic tubes and an audio system.

"The new equipment will enable our tellers to give faster and more efficient service to our customers," the chairman said.

Plans call for removal of a portion of the present drive-in building and remodeling of the remainder to include an area

Offices called 'incompatible'

Compatibility of two offices held by Carl Macios—one as a Granite City School Board member and the other as assessor-elect of Nameoki Township—is under question today following publication of an Illinois attorney-general's opinion in a county and township officials' magazine.

The opinion, issued by Attorney General William J. Scott in response to an inquiry by Michael Bakalis, superintendent of public instruction, maintains "that the office of a member of the school board is incompatible with that of township assessor."

A spokesman at Scott's office in Springfield said the opinion was delivered May 22 this year as part of a seven page document that also included legal opinions on the compatibility of the office of school board member with that of members of the county board and township trustees.

Text of the opinion, according to the spokesman, said in part: "If a tax assessor also is a member of a school board, he could find himself assessing property of the school in his district. He could not in every instance properly and faithfully perform all the duties of each office."

"A dispute also could arise as to whether certain properties of the school are taxable. I am, therefore, of the opinion that the office of a member of a school board is incompatible with that of township assessor."

James Barbery, Madison County supervisor of assessments, said he is aware of the opinion and it is his belief that Macios "should resign one of the two offices, either as school board member or as

Suit by parents

A group of parents in the Madison School District is filing suit today at the Madison County Circuit Court, charging that the school system failed to submit a court ordered desegregation plan by June 29. The district took note of the court order by revising student assignments.

It did not file a plan to assure 50-50 racial proportions at elementary schools, although this will be the result at Louis

Baer School where all fifth and sixth graders will attend.

The school system decided to close Dunbar as an attendance center and to give families a preference in enrolling kindergarten through fourth graders at Blair or Harris.

The suit prepared for filing today cites an order by Circuit Judge James O. Monroe Jr. shortly before he was killed in an auto accident.

The suit asks that the board be held in contempt for not filing a plan, and requests that Dunbar be kept open.

The Board of Education has filed a motion challenging the court ruling.

Rex Carr, attorney for the parents, alleges that Dunbar is to be closed to "punish children of the parents who filed the suit." He voiced doubt that buses will be provided to transport Dunbar area children to Harris.

School officials say the Dunbar closing is due to the condition of the building, declining enrollment and belief that "we can do a better job with just one intermediate school (Louis Baer)."

The parents filing suit favor state proposals for creation of "mini-neighborhoods in assigning students."

A conference is planned July 30 to discuss designation of a judge to hear post-trial petitions.

Dunbar possible day care site

Use of the Dunbar School Annex as a day care center and a teaching center for handicapped children was discussed by the Madison Board of Education Thursday night.

The board members decided not to act on the proposals until after integration plans calling for the closing of Dunbar as an elementary school are finalized and until agreements with the day care center officials are reached.

The day care center, presently operated by the Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission, is housed in the West Madison Memorial Center and, according to John Palciff, superintendent of Madison schools, they are very crowded and their work is hindered by other activities in the building.

Palciff said he took the EOC officials on a tour of the Dunbar Annex and they indicated it would be ideal for their needs. He said the center has spent several thousand dollars on capital improvements to the West Madison Memorial Center and would have funds available to either improve the Dunbar Annex or to pay the district

"They also indicated they might purchase some of the kitchen equipment we will have to leave at Dunbar, which will be money we can put back into our cafeteria programs at the other schools," he said.

He noted the district will be required to initiate an early childhood education program for multiply-handicapped children between the ages of 3 and 5.

He suggested combining the programs in the Dunbar Annex. We would have to hire a teacher to work with these children but the reimbursement from the day care center will more than pay the cost of the teacher," the superintendent commented.

Board member Willis Walker, who opposes closing of Dunbar School this fall, said he felt the teacher to work with these children but the reimbursement from the day care center will more than pay the cost of the teacher," the superintendent commented.

He did not refer directly to a suit pending in Circuit Court to have the district file an integration plan which would be acceptable to the judge.

The district has filed an objection to the court order, listing several reasons why it should not be implemented. A post-trial motion hearing has been scheduled for Monday, July 30.

at Edwardsville to assign a new judge to the case.

The late Circuit Judge James O. Monroe issued the initial order for the district to submit an integration plan but died in an auto accident several days later.

An editorial

Current business construction along Nameoki Road is impressive. But the relationship between commercial activity and traffic volume indicates that Granite City may definitely delay the scheduled extension of Maryville Road.

The commerce-traffic connection shows up in many ways.

Downtown Granite City, long handicapped by the painfully slow progress toward establishment of a scenic shopping mall, also is hampered by lack of mail-related traffic flow. And the obvious need for an additional artery between Downtown and Nameoki Road, perhaps adjacent to the railroad right-of-way, remains unmet and without a specific timetable to accomplish it.

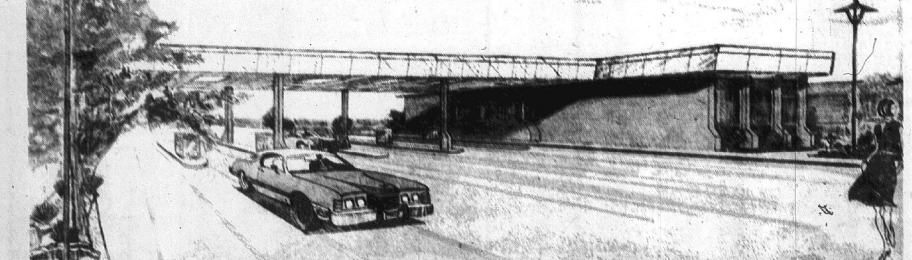

Nameoki Road in the vicinity of the Belmore, American and Nameoki Village shopping centers has severe congestion. Even if currently scheduled intersection and turn lane improvements survive the city's severe street fund squeeze, the opening of new Nameoki Road stores to the north of the three centers this fall will place unprecedented pressure on the capability of the four-lane Nameoki Road vehicle lanes.

Maryville Road, now in financial jeopardy due to past and present motor fuel tax priorities, could help relieve Nameoki Road if it is extended to link Route 163 with 203, as has been pledged repeatedly by county and municipal officials.

Maryville Road also is an essential project on its own merits, disregarding the effect on Nameoki Road. Every possible step should be taken to get it back on schedule.

And whether or not Maryville is extended, additional Nameoki Road access is vital, along the tracks to Downtown, to Fehling Road or to both.

The "crunch"—in dollars, fenders, frustration and travel time—is at hand. Citizens and officials will need to widen their outlook and seek some new, perhaps innovative, solution immediately.

ARTIST'S CONCEPTION of the new six-unit drive-in facility, soon to be constructed by First Granite City National Bank, as viewed from State Street. The new facility will comprise five remote units and one direct window unit, and will include a mini-bank walk-in lobby on the near end for future use. The five remote units will be served by Diebold Captive Carrier Pneumatic Tube and Audio System. The brick masonry exterior will agree in texture and color with the present buildings, but will feature a roof line of white accent panels made of "Stonehenge," a cultured stone.

necticut, Pennsylvania, Michigan and Maryland. Ohio voters have approved establishment of a lottery and now it is up to the legislature to work out the arrangements. Wisconsin voters also have given their approval to a statewide lottery, as voters have in Iowa and Washington. Colorado and Montana voters have rejected such a plan.

It has been estimated that in Illinois a statewide lottery would bring in $100 million to $150 million.

Gov. Daniel Walker has said he will study a statewide lottery if it gets to his desk.

assessor, before he is sworn in as assessor on Jan. 1.

Macios, who lives at 78 Cambridge Drive, was elected as assessor of Nameoki Township. This year's April 3 township election and was re-elected as a rural area member of the Granite City School Board on April 4. Township assessors, however, do not take office until Jan. 1 following election.

Macios said he was unaware of such a legal opinion and that he had obtained an opinion through his own attorney prior to becoming a candidate for the two offices. Macios served as a Nameoki Township auditor prior to running for assessor.

An earlier attorney general's opinion held the two offices incompatible. It was issued May 22, 1969, and served as the precedent until Scott acted in May 1973.

"I can't see that there is any benefit that I could gain by being both a school board member and a township assessor. I am only one man on school board of seven members," Macios said.

As far as the legal opinion is concerned, it is just that an opinion—and certainly is not binding unless the legal issues are tested in court.

Macios said he contemplated no action in the matter at this time.

Barton said his assessment office does not intend to initiate any test of the issue.

"Anything of that kind would have to be done through the state's attorney's office," he said.

for a future walk-in facility on the State Street side.

Additional parking will be made available to customers by the removal of a portion of the present drive-in building, and the demolition of the Larry Building acquired from the Pete Schermer estate.

Entrance to the new drive-in facility will be from Edison Avenue with exit onto State Street. "It is expected that this arrangement should do much to alleviate the almost impossible traffic snarl present on Edison Avenue due to the restoration of two-way traffic on this street several years ago," Lichtenberger said.

"We have also acquired, from the Krill family, the two buildings on State Street presently occupied by Lillian's Grill and the Goodie Shop. As soon as the present tenants can find other quarters, it is our intention to remove the buildings to replace the present parking area which will be lost through the improvement program," he said.

"We hope this major improvement in the downtown area," Lichtenberger said, "will furnish concrete evidence of our faith in the future of our Central Business District and of the Quad-Cities, and perhaps dispel some of the pessimism presently in the minds of too many of our citizens."

Growth and prosperity of any community doesn't just happen. People, primarily those in business, must make it happen, and this can be done only through modernization of business quarters and merchandising practices.

Armed robber flees with $130

An armed robber escaped with $130 to $145 in a holdup at the J&E Confectionery, 347 Old Alton Road, it was reported to the Madison County sheriff's office at 6:35 p.m. Friday.

James Webster, owner of the store, told deputies that a youth, 17 to 20, entered the store, asked for the location of the soda machine, returned to the counter with a can of soda, and when she opened the cash register to provide five cents change, the youth drew a blue steel automatic revolver and said "Give me your money."

She said he took three $20 bills, four or five $10 bills, three or four $5 bills and about $5.31 bills. Mrs. Webster said the bandit then fled toward the woods.

He was described as being 5 feet, 6 inches to 7 inches tall, with over-cur length hair and wearing a white T-shirt and blue jeans.

Mrs. Webster said that when the youth went out the door, she followed him with a .22 caliber gun and fired a warning shot at him before shooting at him.

She said her son James also fired at the youth, and with a .38 caliber gun, and chased him, but it was undecided whether the robber was struck as there was no blood. She said the youth escaped by diving down an embankment.

Mrs. Webster said she was surprised when the neat-looking, mild-mannered youth drew a gun and quietly, but firmly, said "Give me your money."

A previous robbery occurred at the store last December. Mrs. Webster said, after which she obtained the gun.

GC man invents product

Raymond J. Mc Kee, 13011 Edwardsville Road, has developed an invention which is being introduced to manufacturers.

The invention consisted of a hydraulically operated bolster stabilizer for a railroad car that greatly reduces the amount of rocking produced as the car moves along the rails.

McKee now is negotiating for the sale or licensing to interested manufacturers with the assistance and guidance of the Raymond Lee Organization, a company which specializes in the development and introduction of inventions to industry.

According to founder-president Raymond Lee, No idea is too small to be considered for development. "Even though we are located on Park Avenue, among the leading companies of the world, our facilities spread across the United States and Canada to assist inventors in areas of creativity," he said.

"We believe there are many ideas which could result in profitable new products if their inventions would come forward. Our company is dedicated to the discovery of these ideas and their commercial development."

Truck station ok'd by board

Special use permits for a motor freight terminal relay station and for two mobile homes in area townships were approved by the Madison County Board at its meeting last week.

The permit for the relay station was granted to John E. Spatolara to be erected on W. Chain of Rocks Road east of Route 3 with the following stipulations:

That the entire area be fenced with a chain link or cyclone type fence, that it be blacktopped, that there be no loading or unloading of trucks on the property, that no repair work be done on the premises and that it be used only as a relay station.

In conjunction with the development, a special use permit was issued to erect a portable building to be used as an office.

Permits for mobile homes were granted to Doris and Darwin Evans to be placed in an agricultural district of Chouteau Township for a period not to exceed five years and to Lena Minicoff and John J. Minicoff to be placed in an R-3 one-family residence district of Nameoki Township for the duration of the life of Lena Minicoff.

Held in abeyance was the petition of W. D. Clapp, owner, and Illinois Distributing Co. by Kenneth Ted Schaefer, president, purchaser, to remove a tract of land from agricultural district to B-4 wholesale business district in Nameoki Township.

Parking bans, new traffic stops okay'd by GC council

A series of new traffic controls, including elimination of parking in the vicinity of four major intersections on Madison Avenue, have been approved by the Granite City Council.

Elimination of parking at the Madison Avenue intersections complies with requirements of the Illinois State Department of Transportation in completing planning for the city's Topics program in which the four intersections will be improved as safety measures.

The Topics program (Traffic

Operation Program to Increase Capacity and Safety) is expected to reach the bid stage in September. The project cost is estimated at $263,000, with the city providing about $100,000 of the cost and the remainder paid by the federal government. The program is administered by the state.

An ordinance enacted by the city council prohibits parking as follows:

On both sides of 20th Street from Iowa Street, northerly to its intersection

New Salem youth center to close

Illinois Department of Corrections Director Allyn R. Siehoff has announced that New Salem Youth Development Center—a facility operated by the agency's juvenile division for delinquent youths aged 16 and over—will close Aug. 16.

The minimum-security center, which utilizes an old two-story farmhouse and former Civilian Conservation Corps barracks, is located on 10 acres of land on the northwest corner of New Salem State Park near Petersburg.

It was established by the former Illinois Youth Commission in September 1958. The agency maintains six other centers at Morris, Brownfield, Mahanada, Manteno, Savanna and Grafton.

In announcing the closing, Siehoff said, "Before I came to Illinois, the decision to close two of the centers had already been made because of a reduction in the program's population and because it was no longer economically feasible to continue operating eight centers."

"I supported that decision, particularly in view of the fact that some of these facilities are not strategically located; that is, they are too far away from metropolitan areas."

"Then, too, the General Assembly made it mandatory that we identify the camps that were to be closed and funds for their continued operation were not appropriated. We then decided that New Salem would be the first center to be closed; the other will be announced in the near future."

Siehoff said the New Salem center, which has a capacity of 36 youths, has an annual budget of $355,000.

Siehoff said most of the 20 youths currently in residence at New Salem will be paroled by the Aug. 6 closing date, and that those remaining will be transferred to other juvenile division facilities. Normally, a youth is detained at the center for an average of about six months, Siehoff said.

Referring to the future employment of the center's 20 staff members, Siehoff said, "We will do our best to find placements for New Salem personnel. Some will be considered for vacancies that now exist at other institutions."

When the New Salem center was first established in 1958, emphasis was placed in forestry and conservation work within New Salem State Park. The treatment program in later years has emphasized preparing youth for return to

To redesign driver clinic

Dr. James Aaron, coordinator of the Southern Illinois Safety Center and a recognized national traffic safety expert, has been named to redesign the Driver Improvement Clinic course in Illinois. Michael J. Howlett, Secretary of State, has announced.

Dr. Aaron is a member of the advisory committee of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration.

"We are asking Dr. Aaron to submit to our office new ideas which will improve the course and be more beneficial to drivers than the present traffic clinic," Secretary Howlett said.

All drivers receiving probationary permits after a three-month suspension for three moving traffic violations in a 12-month period are required to attend a Driver Improvement Clinic.

Howlett recently announced a new procedure that informs eligible suspended drivers of their full rights. They will be sent a package with a letter explaining the program and including a petition application.

French officials see Tri-City Port

The Tri-Cities Regional Port and Locks 27 on the Chain of Rocks Canal Thursday hosted eight port officials from France.

The group is here to study port and lock operations. One of the guests, Jack Troriel, has the duty of investigating and developing mutual beneficial trade communication and commerce channels between the St. Louis metropolitan port area and world trade operations, including France's ports.

The guests arrived in this area Thursday and were shown the St. Louis Terminal docks and St. Louis Shipbuilding operations before coming here.

They were picked up at St. Louis Ship by Carl Rauff, secretary and manager of the Tri-City Regional Port District, and by Stan Reebie, district manager of the Kaskaskia Port District. The group toured the Tri-City Port facilities and Locks 27.

The visitors were entertained at lunch aboard the Robert E. Lee, where they met with state officials.

Attending the lunch were: William Browning, chief of the division of community development, Department of Business and Development, state of Illinois; Ed Bishop, deputy director of the business and development department; Floyd Gehrath, manager of the department's Edwardsville office; and Don Atkins, Port director at Shawneetown.

Among the French visitors was Daniel Dreyfous-Ducas, director of the port authority of Paris, who expressed interest in developing trade between Paris and this metropolitan area because both have inland ports.

New concepts of river shipping with the new "latch" barges and new "son bow" barges were studied by him for possible French use.

The new barges would provide a direct route from France to Northern Europe and the United Kingdom by an all-water route, he explained.

Troriel was interested in Locks 27 because the French are planning to construct new locks on the Seine River. They are to be about 600 feet in length, the size of the smaller locks at Granite City.

From here, the group flew to New Orleans.

Other French visitors included Mr. and Mrs. John Maynadie, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Riviere, Mrs. Dreyfous-Ducas and Mrs. Troriel.

Student grant meet Tuesday

A meeting to explain the federal Basic Educational Opportunity Grant Program will be held at 7 p.m. Tuesday at Granite City High School, it was announced by Miss Selma Nelson, coordinator of pupil personnel services at the school.

The program is designed to provide financial assistance to students who need it who will attend an accredited college or other educational institution for the first time.

The meeting will be open to students, parents and others interested in it. Applications for the grant will be available at the meeting and also may be obtained at the Coordinated Youth Services office by contacting Phyllis Berger, 876-2383 or at the school the student plans to attend.

The program will provide up to $1,600 minus an amount the student and his family are expected to contribute toward the cost of the education. It is called the Family Contribution.

The amount of the grant will be based on the family contribution, the amount of funds available for the program for the 1973-74 year and the cost of the education as the grant cannot exceed one-half of that cost. The amount of the grant would decrease as the family contribution increases.

The minimum grant is $200, and a student would be ineligible if the family contribution is more than $1,200. The family contribution can be computed on a form accompanying the application.

The program is open to high school graduates who will enroll for the first time in an eligible college, university, vocational or technical school on a full-time basis, who are U.S. citizens or plan to become permanent U.S. residents.

Students who have attended a post-high school educational institution at any time before

July 1, 1973, are ineligible.

The main factor used to determine family contribution is family income. If in 1972 it was $11,000 for a family of four or less, a student may receive a grant.

Other factors which would be considered are family size of more than four, more than one member of the family in a post-high school educational program, both parents working or unusually large emergency expenses in 1972.

School Board appointment due

The Madison Board of Education must appoint a new board member this week to fill the seat vacated by Theodore Kemp, or the superintendent of the educational service region will be authorized to call a special election to fill the opening.

Kemp's resignation was accepted June 16 by the board, leaving it 30 days in which to appoint a replacement. The deadline is Thursday.

Kemp, a black, resigned for health reasons and because he disagreed with the board's plans concerning integration. A West Madison group has petitioned the board to choose a black to replace Kemp.

The past likely will be filled by appointment at a special meeting of the board which has been called for 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the board's office. Also to be discussed will be selection of a school insurance plan and other items.

An executive session also has been called to follow the regular meeting at which the shifting of district personnel will be discussed. Reassignments of schools is necessary due to the board's decision to close Madison High School for the 1973-74 school year.

The choice of an insurance plan for the district's students was tabled at a board meeting Thursday night pending consideration of one other plan.

Also at Thursday's meeting, the board opened bids on several items and awarded four contracts.

Labadie Roofing Co. of Granite City was granted a $2,340 contract to roof the Madison Junior High School gymnasium. The company was the lowest of two bidders.

Piasa Motor Fuels of Alton was selected to supply fuel oil for the district at 18.5 cents per gallon. Piasa was the only bidder. Both Apex Oil Co. and Alton-Richfield Co. submitted letters indicating they were unable to bid due to the shortage of fuel oil.

Union Coal & Feed Co. of Madison was granted a contract to supply coal at $17.10 per ton. Bids from Tri-City Coal & Ice Co. of Granite City and Butch's Co. of Granite City were higher and were rejected.

Roller Paper Co. submitted the low bid of $5.24 per case for 150 cases of paper towels and was chosen from four bidders.

Bids on numerous maintenance supplies were opened and are to be awarded after study and recommendations by the administrative staff. Two bids on cafeteria freezers and refrigerators were opened and were referred to the administration for study.

The board voted to continue a 4-cent per $100 assessed valuation tax for special education facilities. The funds can be used for classroom construction or to alter existing facilities to be suitable for special education classes.

They also voted to complete applications and certificates of need for special education building grants. Specific plans to utilize the funds have not been announced.

A letter from Cong. Melvin Price (D-East St. Louis) was received which informed the board the Title I Urban-Rural grant had been approved in the amount of $5,272.

Walter E. James, assistant superintendent, was authorized to submit a proposal for the use of the Urban-Rural Program funds for the hiring of two additional Title I aides.

James also was authorized to submit to the Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction the preliminary fiscal report for the district, the special education summary report and reimbursement claim for handicapped children and the reimbursement claim for children in private facilities during the past year.

College grants for Madison students planning to enroll this year for the first time in eligible colleges, universities, vocational programs or technical schools are available through Coordinated Youth Services in Granite City.

The school board adopted the special education district region I tentative budget of $124,916 for the 1973-74 school year. The budget must be approved by all school districts in the special education region before it can be placed in effect.

Bills from the educational fund of $401,302 and from the building fund of $1,295 were paid. The board allowed salaries of $26,644 from the educational fund and $2,848 from the building fund.

The district's treasurer, Raymond Kosielek, reported tax collections are underway and the district should receive its first installment soon. He suggested investing surplus tax funds received into federal treasury bills, rather than bank certificates.

The board concluded, noting that interest on the treasury bill is on a coupon to 8 1/2 percent, exceeding interest available at banks.

Jr. College Optimist Topic

Attorney Leo Konzen spoke on the subject of Junior College Districts at a meeting Thursday of the Granite City Optimist club at the YMCA.

He discussed the possibility of Granite City joining the Belleville area or Alton-Godfrey area, and explained the tax rates in both districts at the present time. He also discussed what the future tax rate would be if consolidation with a larger area was approved.

Suggestions also have been made to explore possible use of the Southern Illinois University facilities at Edwardsville and use of the SIUE staff, since the university was established as a four-year program but now has a decreased enrollment due to the junior colleges, Konzen told the club.

Maurice Dailey, president, presided at the meeting and announced plans are being made to sponsor a "Camelot Auction" sometime in October as a club project.

Evel Knievel successful in jump here

The internationally known daredevil Evel Knievel kept a near capacity crowd on its feet Saturday night as he demonstrated trick motorcycle riding and concluded by jumping the cycle from ramp-to-ramp over 13 cars and trucks at St. Louis International Raceway.

Knievel landed at the track in a helicopter during the regular racing program. He talked to the crowd, telling them of his upcoming Snake River Canyon jump near the Grand Canyon. He said one government official wrote him a letter wishing him luck on his "undertaking." "I thought that was a very poor choice of words," Knievel said.

"Several fans have asked me how much money I am going to make jumping the canyon. I'm going to make enough to fill the canyon," the daredevil claimed.

He then displayed skill in trick motorcycle riding, the vehicle the length of the quarter-mile track on only the rear wheel. He repeated the trick while standing on the seat of the motorcycle.

He then showed a jet-powered motorcycle, similar to the unit he will attempt the canyon jump, and rode the jet cycle down the track. "If a policeman ever comes up behind you in one of these future and tells you to stop, you better stop or he will just swing around in front of you and melt the paint off the front of your car," he joked.

The climax of his presentation came as he successfully jumped from ramp-to-ramp over the 13 vehicles, landing safely and slowing his motorcycle with a parachute. He left in the helicopter.

The program also included competition between funny cars, 10 pro-stock cars and all other money and trophy classes.

The AA fuel funny car of Curt Wasson defeated Ira Hollenbe's "Superstar Mustang" in two consecutive runs with times of 7.54 seconds and 7.61 seconds. Wasson's fastest run was 182.93 miles-per-hour while Hollenbe was faster at 188.68 miles-per-hour, but could not find the traction necessary to win. An A-frame funny car, the MustangGuthrie and Burton ran 7.67.60 and 7.65 in two unopposed runs.

Fred Shafer of Granite City took the top trophy honors in his 231 cubic inch small block Vega with a final run of 9.59 seconds, finishing at 143.32 m.p.h. He defeated the Steibel and Trice Canaro, a big block machine. Other Granite City pro-stock entries were the Bradshaw and Gibson Canaro, the Suspicion Canaro of Al Mitchell and Roger Elliott, and the Mitchell and Konkil "Executioner."

New hazards for small boats here

Triggered by the spring flood waters, major changes have been noted that may be dangerous to small boat enthusiasts.

The St. Louis District, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, reports that high velocity flows, unusual currents, debris and silt have created conditions hazardous for navigation.

The Corps on Saturday issued a note of caution to boaters that the floods have caused underwater and shoreline alterations.

Snags, sand bars, disappearance of landmarks and navigational aids have been reported. Depths in backwater channels have been altered drastically in many cases.

The Corps says that while the river is slightly higher than normal level for the current in the pools above Locks 26 at Alton, some of the harbors and backwaters are considerably shallower than usual as a result of silt deposited during and following the flood.

Many boaters are apt to experience difficulty in docking in marina areas even though the river is slightly above normal.

"In the interest of safety and boating fun, we are asking those who use the rivers for navigation to exercise caution and to keep posted on the marker locations," a Corps spokesman commented.

Mercer splits, Boosters bow

Mercer's Inter- City baseball team split two on the road today Saturday to Roxana 4-3 and downing Mott of Collinsville 7-5 on Sunday. The St. Mary's Boosters were blasted out of the Maers Industrial Park diamond Sunday by Van's of East Alton 2-1.

In Sunday's action Mercer scored one run in the second, two in the sixth and four in the eighth on 10 hits. The team committed three errors. Mottor scored two in the sixth and three in the eighth on 13 hits. The home bobbled twice.

A long triple paid off for Mercer as Bill Parks belted one about 370 feet over the center-fielder's head with the bases loaded in the eighth, scoring Steve Schardan, Jim Greenwald and Bill Campbell. Parks then scored on a sacrifice fly by Mark Boone.

Larry Corey tripled in the sixth for Mercer with Don Harris on base and then he committed an error.
 Vic Remack went all the way for the mound victory. It gave him a 6-2 record.

"We just can't seem to get over that 300 hurdle," Wendell Corey, Mercer manager, remarked. "We are still working on it. Once we break the 300 jinx, everybody will be happy."
 Mercer will play under the lights at Highland-Pierion at 8 p.m. Wednesday and will host Pasa in Wilson Park Sunday in a double header beginning at 1 p.m.

Legion blanked 15-0

Mark Boone, who relieved Ron Laws who moved to right field in the fifth, was charged with the loss against Roxana Saturday.

Mercer staged a three-run comeback in the eighth to tie the score 5-4 but Roxana broke away in its half of the eighth with four runs.

Schardan tripled in the eighth for Mercer with Ron Laws and Larry Corey on base and then he scored on a passed ball.

"Van's brought their bats home. We just could not stop them," Jim Green, St. Mary's manager, lamented.

The line score for Vans went 4-4-3-4-0-3-0 for 24 runs on 25 hits, committing two errors. St. Mary's managed one run in the fourth inning and three in the eighth on nine hits. The Boosters committed three errors.

King of St. Louis ended the feature race winning streak of the Spalding of Pontoon Beach by topping the field in the 25-lap feature Friday night at Tri-City Speedway. It was his second feature win this season here.

Spalding was in contention in the feature until he spun out in the 11th lap while trying to defend second place against charges by Clyde Lindemann of Cottleville, Mo.

The spin sent Spalding back in eighth place from which he was unable to recover. He finished sixth as King won the event, trailed by Lindemann, Ed Massey of Decatur, Russ 94, Highland-Pierion and Ken Schrader of Valley Park, Mo.

Spalding had won two consecutive features prior to Friday night. Lindemann was the fastest qualifier at 27.84 seconds on the half-mile with Spalding second at 27.98.

Heat winners were Wallace, Spalding and Massey and Wallace topped the handicap field. Pat Walsh of St. Louis won his third consecutive hobby car feature and split heats with Terry Spalding, 17-year-old son of Wib Spalding.

Post 307 bats bang, but—

A margin of 10 hits for Venice-Madison Post 307 to nine hits for Belleville was not enough Thursday night as Venice-Madison was defeated 11-4 in an American Legion Baseball contest at Belleville.

In the seven inning contest, Venice-Madison scored 6-0-0-0-0-0 and Belleville went 2-0-3-6-0-0 with each team committing only one error in the ball game.

Losing pitcher was Bill Hendricks who was relieved in the fifth inning by Ron Jones. Legion Post 307 hits came off the bats of Kevin Werner, with two doubles; Tim Timmons, a single and a double; Carl Turner, two singles; Cecil Wilson, double; and Pete Fecurka, Ron McLaughlin and Ivan Olson, each with a single.

In the fourth inning when Venice-Madison scored four runs Carl Turner led off with a single, followed by Pete Fecurka who drew a walk. Wilson drove in Turner and Fecurka with a double. Werner doubled to score Wilson and Timmons singled, driving in Werner.

King of St. Louis ended the feature race winning streak of the Spalding of Pontoon Beach by topping the field in the 25-lap feature Friday night at Tri-City Speedway. It was his second feature win this season here.

Spalding was in contention in the feature until he spun out in the 11th lap while trying to defend second place against charges by Clyde Lindemann of Cottleville, Mo.

The spin sent Spalding back in eighth place from which he was unable to recover. He finished sixth as King won the event, trailed by Lindemann, Ed Massey of Decatur, Russ 94, Highland-Pierion and Ken Schrader of Valley Park, Mo.

Spalding had won two consecutive features prior to Friday night. Lindemann was the fastest qualifier at 27.84 seconds on the half-mile with Spalding second at 27.98.

Heat winners were Wallace, Spalding and Massey and Wallace topped the handicap field. Pat Walsh of St. Louis won his third consecutive hobby car feature and split heats with Terry Spalding, 17-year-old son of Wib Spalding.

Teachers' Center

The teachers' centers were started last year under the direction of Thomas C. O'Brien, associate professor of elementary education at SIUE, with financial support from the National Science Foundation.

O'Brien recently returned from England, where he visited teachers' centers, met British leaders and videotaped British and European educators. The tapes have been placed in the resource library at the Belleville Area Teachers' Center.

O'Brien said the visiting educators who will conduct the workshop have written several books on the subjects of basic mathematics, educational psychology and research of children's thinking.

"Miss Biggs, Her Majesty's inspector for primary mathematics, is a leader in the child-centered movement in British education," O'Brien said. "Lovell is professor of educational psychology at the Institute of Education of the University of Leeds, MacLean is curriculum director in the Ministry of Education of the Province of Ontario, and Bates is Principal of Toronto's Blake Street School, a model school in one of the most densely populated areas in North America." Enrollment in the workshop will be limited, and educators wishing to register should write to the Teachers' Center Project, School of Education, SIUE, Edwardsville.

General Steel reports profit

General Steel Industries had net income for the three months ended June 30 of $285,000 or 34 cents per share of common stock, compared with net income of $207,000, or 11 cents a share, for the second quarter of 1972. W. Ashley Gray Jr., chairman of the board, announced late Thursday.

Sales in the second quarter this year were $12,789,000 for the continuing divisions of GSI, an increase of 16 percent over sales of $10,983,000 in the second quarter last year.

The second quarter results brought GSI's net income for the first six months of 1973 to $1,420,000, or 56 cents a share, compared with a net loss of $133,000, or five cents per share, in the first half of 1972.

Pre-tax income from continuing operations was $1,671,000 for the first six months of 1973 compared with $1,798,000 in 1972.

Gray said interest charges allocated to the continuing divisions were $667,000 greater in the first half of 1973 than in the same period last year as a result of unusually heavy indebtedness created by past problems with the discontinued St. Louis Car and Castings divisions.

He reported that GSI has repaid approximately $5,000,000 of the $15,000,000 debt refinanced late last December.

The backlog of orders as of June 30 stood at $15,000,000 compared with $11,338,000 for the same date in 1972.

They were taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital where they were admitted. Hasselhoff had x-rays to the skull, spine and chest. Stiffler suffered cuts to the lip and right forearm and received x-rays of the skull, spine, face and right forearm.

Mental health films to be shown youngsters in school

BY MARY LOU MANNING

Springfield—Billy's mad because his mother gave his cat away. Tommy's angry with parents because he feels they're always making him work. So, they both decide to run away.

Seen through the eyes of a 10-year-old, Billy has an alcoholic father and a nagging mother who won't cook dinner. Tommy has a courteous family and pleasant dinner surroundings. Through this comparison, Tommy decides that his life is not so bad after all. Why run away?

Sound like an episode from the continuing story of "Search for Life"? Well, in actuality, it's a scene from the series of 15-minute mental health films now being produced by the Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

On the second floor of Springfield's Herndon Building, the OSPI's division of media services operates a television studio with facilities comparable to a commercial television station. Here, they're in the process of producing and sending out 30 films to schools across the state in time for use during the coming school year.

Entitled "Inside Out," the series consists of 15-minute mental health films designed to help youngsters 8-to-10 years old solve their own emotional problems.

"They don't deal with drugs," Levi Lathen, assistant superintendent of the division, said, "but many people have told me they are the best films around to help fight the drug problem because they help teach children to cope with their emotions."

The series is not just a lecture program with a face appearing on the screen telling the children what is good and what is bad. Instead, real situations are portrayed, and then the teacher flips on the lights and the call is open for discussion about what they have just seen.

"It's not just a regurgitation of the facts," Lathen explained. "We want the kids to think, to be creative. It's not possible to teach everything they should know."

A total of 32 states have pooled their resources and poured $800,000 into the project to make it the newest in instructional television.

Work-study funds face cut

BY MARY LOU MANNING

Copy News Service

Springfield—The number of students employed through the Work-Study Program at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will be cut in half for next year unless more federal funds are made available, according to Finis Winkler, director of student work and financial assistance.

A total of $316,977 was allocated by the federal government for the Work-Study Program for 1973, but only $181,095 was allocated for 1974—a cut of 43 per cent.

"As a result we won't be able to hire more than 200 students next year, unless more funds are allocated for the Work-Study Program," Winkler said.

The program currently hires about 400 students per year. The program is federally funded, providing employment opportunities for students, particularly those with great financial need, who need part-time earnings to pursue their college studies. Students may work on campus or off campus for a public or private nonprofit organization.

Since funding for regular institutional student employment will remain the same for SIUE next year, regular student employment would not be able to pick up the deficit number of students left by the cut in the Work-Study Program, Winkler said.

Winkler said the basic reason for the cuts is the growing number of new schools, especially the junior colleges, coming into the total work-study program.

According to Winkler, more students will have to take advantage of state and federal loan programs to finance their education or seek employment off campus.

He suggested employers off campus call the SIUE Student Work and Financial Assistance office if they are interested in hiring students on a part-time basis.

$1 million suit over shock, fall

BY MARY LOU MANNING

Copy News Service

Springfield—A suit for a total of $1 million has been filed by the estate of Albert O. Forrester who suffered fatal burns and internal injuries while working on a sign May 23 at the Canal Motel, Route 3 and W. Chain of Rocks Road.

The suit, filed in four counts seeking $250,000 in each in Madison County Circuit Court, names Union Electric Co., Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. and Canal Motel Inc. as defendants.

According to the complaint, Mr. Forrester and another employee of the Levy Sign Co. were working on a metal ladder on the sign and that the power lines were in close proximity to it when the victim suffered an electric shock and fell. The other employee also was injured.

Two of the counts were against the motel, charging that the firm allowed use of a ladder which was improperly insulated in violation of the Structural Work Act and also with failing to notify the two utilities of the shifting of their poles.

Administratrix of the estate is the widow, Mrs. Rita Forrester.

Symbol shows buildings with access to disabled

A symbol designating public buildings and facilities free of architectural barriers to access, and use by physically handicapped persons has been adopted by the state of Illinois.

A Joint Resolution passed during the 78th General Assembly adopted the Rehabilitation International's 11th World Congress accessibility symbol, depicting a wheelchair figure in white in a blue background.

Contributed to the World Congress by the Scandinavian Design Students Organization in Dublin in 1970, the symbol is now being displayed in over 50 countries throughout the world. Illinois is the first state in the United States to officially recognize its use.

The Illinois Governor's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped has been designated at the state agency to administer issuance and regulation of the symbol. Requirements for its display have been established by the committee.

Blast tuition hike proposed

Adoption of a recommendation by the Carnegie Commission on Higher Education to sharply increase tuition at public universities would have "serious detrimental effects on students attending Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville," Dr. John S. Rendleman, SIU president, said last week.

The Carnegie Commission proposed the increase to close the gap between the cost of attending a public university and the higher tuition and fees charged by private universities. The commission had advocated 10 to 12 per cent increases each year until 1983, with increased financial aid for low-income students.

"The immediate effect of any tuition increases will be cruel and the long-range effects may be irreversible for students in the area," Rendleman said. "There would be many, many cases where young people would be prevented from getting the education they desire and society demands. Doors to advancement and opportunity would be loudly slammed in their faces, if the Carnegie Commission recommendations were to be adopted."

Illinois residents enrolled as full-time undergraduates at SIUE now pay $274.50 in tuition and fees for three academic quarters of work. Full-time out-of-state students now pay $1,432.50 for three academic quarters.

At SIUE an estimated 2,396 full-time undergraduate students classed as "dependent" under federal guidelines came from families with an annual income of less than $7,500 last year, according to the Office of Student Work and Financial Assistance.

A survey of undergraduates enrolled last September indicates 514 students came from families with incomes from $0 to $2,999. Seven hundred forty-two students came from families with incomes from $3,000-$5,999. There were 1,142 students from families with incomes from $6,000 to $7,499.

The federal government of fiscal year 1980 classifies a family of four with an annual income of $4,000 as "poverty level."

An estimated 3,311 students enrolled at SIUE last fall came from families with incomes in excess of $7,500.

Compensation up 14%

Bills increasing workmen's compensation by 14 percent and appropriating $1.7 million to the Illinois Industrial Commission were signed Thursday by Gov. Dan Walker.

The 14 percent increase will mean that maximum death or permanent disability benefits for the family of a worker killed or injured on the job will increase from $75 to $86 a week (two children under 18). Maximum temporary disability payments will rise from $30.50 to $34.50 (two children under 18). "The benefits could have been far greater," the governor said prior to leaving on a two-week vacation, "but obstructionist Republicans in the Senate blocked them. One action reflecting a $225,000 measure cost the state $1 million in federal matching funds for occupational health and safety," he charged.

Walker continued, "Working men don't say much about occupational health and safety but their wives do. And they have expressed their unhappiness to me."

"While I was pleased to approve a desperately needed workmen's compensation increase, I am disappointed that the rate passed by the General Assembly was not still higher. And I deeply regret that this session did not produce legislation to overhaul an outdated system of protecting working people from job hazards."

Drivers hurt, one arrested

Darrell L. Freeman, 24, of 2255 State St., and Wilbert E. Herman, 20, of 340 Lenox Ave., Mitchell, were injured when their autos collided at 4:30 p.m. Thursday in the 2500 block of Madison Avenue.

They were taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital. Freeman had a nose bleed and a two-inch cut to the left elbow and was admitted following x-rays to the nose, face, skull and chest.

Herman had a bump on the forehead and bruises to the left ribs. He was treated and released after skull x-rays.

Herman, who was charged with reckless driving, was arrested again at 7:30 p.m. on a charge of disorderly conduct in a complaint signed by Ronald Snelson, owner of Snelson's Auto Body Shop where the two cars in the mishap were taken.

Snelson told police Herman climbed a fence at the shop and was seen kicking at cars.

New State abortion standards

Gov. Dan Walker on Thursday signed into law effective immediately three bills setting standards on abortions.

He also signed a fourth bill designed to protect rights of health professionals who for reason of religion or conscience do not wish to perform or assist in performing abortions.

The new standards are:
—No abortions in the third trimester (last three months) of pregnancy except for therapeutic abortions necessary to preserve the life of physical and mental health of the mother.

—No abortions in the second or third trimester unless performed in a licensed —No abortions in the first, second or third trimester unless performed in a licensed facility by an Illinois-licensed physician affiliated with a licensed hospital after adequate counseling has been provided the patient and written permission has been obtained from her.

The Professional Office Building in Danville provides convenient electric heat.

When it comes to specifying the heating system for a new building, more and more contractors choose modern electric heat. One reason is that electric heat units can be installed quickly and easily, and take little or no usable space.

As for quality, the even warmth, quick response, and room-by-room temperature control of electric heat provides the last word in convenient comfort.

Whether you plan to build—or occupy—a new building, you'll be wise to consider electric heat. For more information, call your IP sales representative at our office.

Power bills include new rate, lot of heat

Illinois Power Co. reports that the normal consumption of electricity during the latter part of June and thus far in July. A new system peak was established at 2,165,160 kilowatts July 9.

Much of the increased consumption can be attributed to air conditioning requirements. An IP spokesman told the Press-Record. An analysis of weather factors indicates that cooling requirements were twice as great as the same period a year ago, and little or no cooling was required during May.

This makes a drastic comparison on current bills for electricity for customers in this area, he commented.

At the local Illinois Power office, the number of inquiries on these bills has increased substantially during the past week.

A small portion of the new electric bills can be attributed to Illinois Power's rate increase effective May 17.

It was reported at that time that the rate hike would amount to approximately 60 cents per month for 500 kilowatt hours of use, or $1.22 for a customer using 750 kilowatt hours.

Post Corp. earnings up

Appleton, Wis.—Post Corp. on Thursday reported second quarter earnings of $54,331 or 61 cents per share, compared with $40,528 or 45 cents per share for the same period last year. The firm owns the Press-Record.

The results are from operations, and do not include gains or losses from securities transactions, a spokesman noted.

Earnings for 1973's first six months (also before capital gains) totaled $300,434 or 88 cents a share, compared with $201,137 or 71 cents a share for the first half of last year.

The firm's insurance subsidiary experienced securities losses of $14,680 during the second quarter, however, these were offset by gains taken earlier so that the account shows a gain of $2,323 for the first six months.

Last year, the securities account showed realized gains of $31,344 at the end of the first half.

The spokesman said good operating results from all the firm's three major divisions—newspapers, broadcasting and insurance—contributed to the higher profits.

Newspaper revenues are up 6 per cent so far this year, and broadcasting revenues 6.7 per cent.

Post's insurance subsidiary, All-Star Insurance Corp., showed a strong improvement in the second quarter after falling behind last year's results during the first quarter, caused by variations in claims experience.

Conditional discharge in burglary

Roger Niesporek, 19, of Graniteville, Utah, and Granite City, pleaded guilty to a charge of burglary in which a young companion was shot and killed, and was granted conditional discharge for a period of one year last week by Circuit Judge John Gitchell.

The burglary occurred May 22 at Victor's Tavern, 2001 Illinois Ave., where Michael W. Collins, 16, of Granite City was shot and killed by a police officer as the two were fleeing the tavern.

Among conditions set by Judge Gitchell are that Niesporek not be permitted to possess or own any firearm or other dangerous weapon, that he report to a probation officer either here, in Utah or other state in which he may reside, and that he submit written reports of his activities to the court after six months and after one year.

In other court action the Madison County Grand Jury returned seven indictments and one no-trial bill.

Among the indictments were one charging Jesse Ruth Watts, 17, of 1211 Logan St., Venice, and Jake Edward Ford, 21, of 201 Weaver St., Venice, with attempted robbery earlier this month of Phyllis Taylor and Geneva Brooks of 221 Madison.

The other indictments and the no-trial bill involved crimes outside of the Quad-City area.

Merchant aids mission school, receives reply

Louis Paschoff, proprietor of State Radio & Television, has received a descriptive letter from the operator at a mission boarding school in Honduras in response to merchandise he had provided for the school.

Paschoff joined a cooperative venture headed by the Rev. John H. Ansbury of Belleville, former pastor of DeWey Avenue Methodist Church and a teacher at Madison High School, who compiled three truck loads of merchandise for the school which he and two companions recently visited.

The letter was from Donald Hawk of "Escuela Sembrador," Catacamas, Honduras, C. A. The text follows:

"It was surely a blessing for us here at 'El Sembrador' to have the three ambassadors of God that you had a part in sending our way. The equipment they brought is already being used in the work here and will continue to be a help for many years to come.

"They worked hard while they were here and their ministry will long be remembered. Several of the boys were led to the Lord through Brother Ansbury's messages. Thanks to him our piano and accordions are in tune again. With Joe's help the light plant turbine is in operation again and we have lights twenty-four hours a day.

"They came at a time when we needed a real moral lift and they gave it.

"Thanks so much for having made it possible for them to come. May God richly bless you.

The following paragraphs will help you understand more about our work here at 'El Sembrador'.

"Never a dull moment. Never a day passes that is not different from the day before. Never in the time we have served here have we known what would happen in the next moment, day, week or year.

"El Sembrador is the farm school in Honduras where everything seems to happen—sometimes all at once. Of course what makes this place happen with action most of the time, is all of the time, is 120 active boys ranging from age 10 to 23, tall and short, fat and skinn.

A typical day for the boys is a full day. The rising bell sounds at 5:15 a.m. for the new day. A meal of tortillas, beans, cheese and a bowl of hot cereal get the boys off to a good start. At 7:30 a.m. the bell rings for part of the boys to go to work and the other part to their classes. Of course in between the 5:15 and 7:30 a.m. bells the boys have free time to study, play soccer or any other games to their liking.

Each boy is required to work four hours a day; this earning his books, room and board. They do typical farm work. Some are assigned to work in the dairy others in the kitchen or in the fields and some of the older boys help in the maintenance of buildings, grounds and equipment.

"At 11:25 a.m. the dinner bell rings and boys come running from all directions to be first in line. After all is settled and quiet one of the boys leads in prayer and then they pass through to fill their plates. Dinner is usually their biggest meal and consists of a meat and vegetable dish served with rice, a cup of hot milk and fruit that is in season. Our gardens have helped greatly in providing many kinds of vegetables, but boys will be boys, and a wrinkled nose at the thought of having to eat a leafy vegetable is a common sight.

"The majority of our boys come from poor families where vegetables are very scarce. Many of the boys enter the school thin, pale and almost undernourished. It is not long after their exposure to good food that many become a little on the chubby side, color begins to appear in their cheeks and they seem to live alive and become more alert.

"At 1 p.m. the work and school bell rings again and those who worked in the morning are found clean and dressed ready for school while those who were in classes are now dressed for work. So passes the afternoon.

"For the supper hour at 4:30 p.m. the boys usually have a typical Honduran meal of beans, rice, cheese and hot tea. At times the meal is varied with plantains—a cooking banana—or a fruit that is in season.

"The fun begins after supper when there is free time until bedtime. Many of the boys choose to study, but others are uncollect of their studies, as boys will be, and would rather play.

"At 8 p.m. the bell rings for bed and each boy heads for bed like so many boys in the States—first a trip to the bathroom, then for a drink of water. Anything and everything will distract their attention when it is time for bed, but usually they are quiet and another day has come to a close.

"We are thankful for the opportunity God has given us to share the ups and downs in the lives of these boys. Since the beginning of the school year many of the boys have made decisions for Christ and God has given real victory in many of their lives. Several of the boys are going out into the villages for meetings, as well as teaching S.S. classes, leading services, testifying and having special music for our services.

"Though there is not a day that passes that will be the same as the day before and uncertainty come out way each day, we know that there is a God who will remain constant. He is 'the same yesterday, today, and forever.' Hebrews 13:8.

"Will you pray with us that this may become a reality in the lives of all of the boys at 'El Sembrador'?"

"We want to express once more our gratitude for your support and interest in the work here."

Parents urge TV rules, standards

At the annual meeting of the delegate body of Parents Without Partners, Inc. an 86,000 member organization of widowed, separated or divorced parents, passed a resolution urging major television networks to establish stronger rules and standards when selecting programs to be shown during the early hours of evening when the children are most likely to be watching.

More than 2,000 parents and hundreds of their children were welcomed by Governor John Love of Colorado as they convened for the Fourteenth International Convention at the Denver Hilton Hotel. Delegates from most of the 700 U.S. and Canadian chapters registered to vote in the election of a new international president and board of directors. The four-day meeting, with a theme of "Mile High Hopes," included the annual meeting, a buffalo barbecue, and professionally-led personal and chapter development workshops; teens in an International Youth Council convention; and children's activities and tours.

Highlighting the convention was presentation of the "Distinguished Service to Children Award" to Parents Magazine, accepted by Mrs. Genevieve M. Landau, editor-in-chief.

The award is in recognition of the individual or institution considered to have made the greatest contribution to the welfare of children the world over. Past recipients include Danny Kaye, Sesame Street, Art Linkletter and Walt Disney.

Walker proving best defense is a good offense

By KEN WATSON
Copy News Service
Springfield—It was typical Walker style.

Gov. Dan Walker's surprise announcement that he would make $12 million in state funds available to the financially-ailing Chicago Transit Authority was another striking example of the independence that has marked his six-month-old administration.

With the announcement, he pulled the rug out from under the legislative leadership principally the Republicans, and to some extent, Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley himself.

Daley, plus House Speaker W. Robert Blair of Park Forest and Senate President William C. Harris of Pontiac, both Republicans, and the Democrat legislative leadership were priming for a "summit conference" at Chicago.

Metropolitan transit problems would have been discussed as a prelude to a possible special session.

Walker said his maneuver has made any special session meaningless and that the CTA crisis has been met at least for the current fiscal year.

Blair and Harris responded in public indignation, said they would go ahead with discussions for a possible special session.

Walker's proposal, they added, had flaws and did nothing toward effecting a permanent solution to the overall mass transit problem for the six-county Chicago area.

But there was general agreement at the Statehouse that Walker had once again stolen the show and had regained from the legislature the initiative in the transit issue.

Whether the Walker stroke will hold up in the long run remains to be seen, but it appears probable he has once again struck a popular chord with the public.

Walker's reference to plans for public hearings whereby "the people" will be heard on suggestions for a Regional Transit Authority was another clever slap at the political establishment and that is specifically represented by Blair, Harris and Daley.

Walker apparently feels, and many Statehouse strategists think it is correct, that Illinois' in general have tired of the old process whereby Chicago's Democratic mayor and Downstate Republican legislative leaders get easily together to work out compromise solutions to major problems.

That the process has worked in the past appears of little consequence.

An electorate deeply disillusioned by Watergate and all the many scandals in Illinois warm to Walker's new policies.

His frequent press conferences and news releases, his "accountability sessions" and endless appearances before public gatherings large or small constitute a political offensive that so far has checked and overwhelmed his foes.

Walker critics contend that his tactics, generalizations and overly simplistic answers to problems detract from a mediocre performance as governor and that sooner or later his ineptitude will lead to disaster.

But for the present, at least, he is clearly ahead in the political-public opinion game.

Organ, mandolin, pianos in River Fest spotlight

"Heavy organ man" Virgil Fox, mandolinist Seals & Crofts and pianist Ferrante & Teicher will headline this week's rock-folk-pop musical events at the Mississippi River Festival at SIUE.

Appearing by popular demand after his success in Powell Symphony Hall two seasons ago will be organist Fox with Revelation Lights Tuesday at 8:30.

In their Festival debut, Seals & Crofts will perform Wednesday at 8:30 p.m., with the opening act England Dan and John Ford Coley.

On Friday night, at 8:30, the two-piano team of Ferrante & Teicher will make a return engagement at the River Festival.

With a complete background in the classics, Fox crossed the line into rock music when he stepped onto the stage of Fillmore East in December 1970 to play the first "heavy organ" program, an all-Bach presentation accompanied throughout by an environmental light show.

He now appears before packed college audiences and still keeps classical dates with such orchestras as the New York Philharmonic and the Philadelphia Orchestra.

When Seals & Crofts come to the Festival Wednesday with their mandolin and guitar, they will bring with them a special blend of intricate and unusual harmonies.

Their biggest hit to date is "Summer Breeze," which climbed above the million sales mark as an LP.

Active in every area of entertainment world, Ferrante & Teicher, who will appear at the Festival July 27, have scored successes in concert halls throughout the United States, Canada and Europe.

The duo-piano team plays more than 125 dates annually, covering over 300,000 air miles.

Although they first began playing piano together at age 6, when both were enrolled in the Prep Division of the Juilliard School, it wasn't until 1960 when they recorded "Theme from the Apartment" that they reached national prominence.

$230,000 fuel tax

Illinois townships and road districts have been allocated $2,622,465 as their share of motor fuel tax paid into the state treasury during June computed on the basis of mileage in the individual townships and road districts.

These units of government must levy a tax for road and bridge purposes to be eligible for fuel tax allocations. Allocations for townships and road districts in Madison County totaled $36,917.

Counties have been allocated $2,686,058, except Cook County which has been allocated $3,224,712, as their share of the June motor fuel tax funds paid into the state treasury during June. The Madison County figure is $139,859.

Motor fuel tax funds are allocated monthly to the various counties for their highway needs. The monies allocated are computed on the basis of motor vehicle registration fees.

Granite City will receive $1,371, Madison $7,160 and Venice $4,759 in June motor fuel tax allocations by the state, it was announced Friday. The cities qualify on the basis of population and may use the funds for streets.

'Butterfly' opera at Festival on Saturday

An innovation in programming will be added to the Mississippi River Festival this weekend when the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra will present its first concert version of Puccini's opera "Madama Butterfly" on Saturday, July 28, at 8:30 p.m.

The performance, the first opera in the Festival's five-year history, will be conducted by Music Director Walter Susskind with five renowned vocal soloists from the opera world. Soloists will include Lorna Haywood as Butterfly, Sheila Nadler as Suzuki, Vahan Khanzadian as Pinkerton, Ryan Edwards as Sharpless and Jeral Becker as Goro.

The opera, which will be presented in concert version without staging or costumes, tells the story of the faithful love and tragic end of Madame Butterfly (Cio-Cio San), who falls in love with Lieutenant Pinkerton, a U. S. Naval Officer.

Lorna Haywood, who performed last season at the orchestra's Gateway Arch concert, received her musical training at the Royal College of Music in her native England and at the Juilliard School in New York.

A regular member of the Sadler's Wells Opera House and the Royal Opera House, she has appeared as soloist with major American orchestras including Cleveland, Boston and New York.

Sheila Nadler, who is making her St. Louis Symphony debut, has sung leading roles with the San Francisco Opera, St. Paul Opera, Montreal Opera Guild, Portland Opera, and New Orleans Opera among others.

Ryan Edwards, baritone, in addition to opera appearances with the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, has performed with the San Francisco Opera, St. Paul Opera, Montreal Opera Guild, Portland Opera, and New Orleans Opera among others.

Vahan Khanzadian, also making his St. Louis Symphony debut, has sung leading roles with the San Francisco Opera, St. Paul Opera, Montreal Opera Guild, Portland Opera, and New Orleans Opera among others.

Jeral Becker, baritone, in addition to opera appearances with the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, has performed with the San Francisco Opera, St. Paul Opera, Montreal Opera Guild, Portland Opera, and New Orleans Opera among others.

Hearing today on assessment cuts

Officials of Madison, Venice and the Madison School Board were to meet at 10 a.m. today with officials of Consolidated Aluminum Products Corp. (Conalco), to discuss the company's request for lower assessed valuation.

School board members were invited Thursday night to attend the hearings and the board authorized its attorney, William Kinder, to intervene in the case which is to be heard by the State Board of Review July 30.

At Thursday night's school board meeting, Harold T. Fisk, a board member, explained, "We are not going to try to run them out of town. We just want them to pay their share of taxes to help support the schools in our city."

"If they don't, the common taxpayer is going to have to take it on the chin, whether through state or local taxes."

The majority of the Madison School District's local taxes come from Conalco and board members expressed fears that the loss of taxes from a lower assessment of Conalco, combined with a loss of students this year could deal a crushing blow to the district's financial status.

Also at the school board meeting, Fisk proposed that the members consider having two meetings per month rather than the one now held. He suggested meetings be held the first and third Thursdays each month.

The board is to consider the request. Board members requested that the Madison and Venice police departments keep closer watches on the district schools due to a high number of burglaries.

John Palcheff, school superintendent, noted that Blair School had been burglarized twice during July and Dunbar School had been entered once. The board is to study fencing or barricading the playground at Madison Junior High School to stop parking on the playground during softball games on the Third Street ball diamond.

Several board members reported receiving complaints of the cars keeping children from playing on the playground. Two children almost were struck by cars on the playground, James Childers, board president, said.

Children said he has stood on the lot during games to keep cars from parking there but the drivers will not comply with his requests. He said the Madison police were unwilling to tow the cars from the scene unless board members agreed to sign complaints against the drivers. John Palcheff, school superintendent, said he has ordered barricades to close the playground during games as a temporary measure until a fence or chain can be erected.

The board employed Mrs. Janet Schultz as a secretary in the superintendent's office. Resignations were accepted from David Byrd Jr., a Dunbar fifth-grade teacher, James Gregory Reynolds, a part-time band instructor and Walter Warfield.

Warfield was a social studies teacher at the high school and sponsored the student council. He also was assistant baseball and basketball coach at the school. He will become principal at Mason City High School during the 1973-74 school year.

Use of the high school gymnasium and cafeteria Sept. 29 were granted to Mrs. Sharon Yeant for a ballroom twirling activity. She will be required to furnish rent, compensation for custodians and insurance.

Mrs. Marguerite Connole, who is helping prepare the district's A-160 plan, reported the document is about two-thirds complete. The A-160 plan was conceived by the Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction to involve students and members of the public in curriculum and decision making processes of school districts.

A survey of goal preferences has been completed in which a group of 20 to 25 professional teachers, a group of 16 students and a group of about 20 residents of the community expressed their priorities for education, she said.

The professional college and community groups showed strong preferences for development of skills in reading, writing, speaking and listening while students generally preferred the development of good character and self-respect as the top goals. The other groups also ranked student character development highly.

Springfield bureau — Important that state board legislation be signed so that elections during 1974 will be supervised

Was this year's session of the Illinois General Assembly a do-nothing session, as it has been frequently characterized in the press?

We believe the answer to this question is no. It was a confusing session and one devoid of big, exciting issues. It was marked by a lot of petty bickering and name calling, particularly between the Republican leadership and Gov. Dan Walker; and, once again, the legislators failed to meet deadlines they set for themselves, so there was a ridiculous crush at the end which stretched the session two days beyond quitting time.

However, some essential legislation was passed in addition to appropriations. Some examples:

— A good bill creating a 17-member appointed state board of education was approved. The Constitution of 1970 had mandated such a board, but the General Assembly had failed in 1971 and 1972 to agree on a method for establishing the board. This time both houses agreed on setting up a board appointed by the governor with members selected on a regional basis. This gives adequate time for the board to be appointed and to get into full operation before it has to choose a new state school superintendent, replacing the appointed superintendent, in January, 1975.

— Two bills were passed to establish a state board of elections, giving Gov. Walker a choice of either a five member board made up of two members of each major party and one independent, or a four-member board, consisting of two members from each major party with disputes settled by drawing of lots. It is important to get such a board established this year to supervise next year's elections.

— Measures providing medical standards for performance of abortions were approved. This was much needed because a Supreme Court decision had voided previous Illinois laws on the subject and without some new state legislation the way would have been open for setting up

Springfield bureau — No sound reason has been offered as to why state is failing to order disclosure of campaign gifts

THERE'S no good reason been offered as to why the Illinois Senate stalled legislation requiring disclosure of campaign contributions.

In voting to bury in committee a bill sponsored by House Speaker Robert Blair, Senate President Williams Harris said he didn't think it should be passed because he wasn't getting any heat from his constituents to take such action. Sen. Cecil Partee, minority leader, said the legislature should delay action until there was some resolution of the Watergate matter, which has involved use of campaign funds at the federal level.

Neither explanation speaks to the issue, which is whether the state should require disclosure of who is giving to a candidate's campaign and what campaign funds are spent for. The Watergate scandal and controversy over some contributions to Gov. Dan Walker's campaign have clearly indicated the need for such disclosure. The governor had indicated he would sign the bill.

Dateline: Education

By Michael J. Bakalis
Superintendent of Public Instruction
State of Illinois

Individualized instruction is a term that is often heard, and just as often misunderstood. But very simply—maybe too simply—it is a way of teaching based on the uniqueness of children rather than on their sameness.

I have always strongly believed that the learning situation must take into account the individual differences in pupils. Each child has his own set of experiences, his own developing set of values, and his own ways of learning and maturing. He sees the world through his own eyes. I believe that it is the right of every child, of every human being, to be an individual person and to be treated as one.

But my concern is not only with the individual child—it is with the entire teacher/learner situation. The relationship between student and teacher, the atmosphere in the classroom, the relationships among the students—all can be positively affected by individualized instruction.

I therefore encourage every school district in Illinois to accept some means of individualizing instruction. I will support every effort made in the direction of humanizing the teacher/learner situation. It is my hope that by 1980 every school district in the state have an individualized instruction curriculum.

I do not advocate any one specific plan of individualized instruction. Just as each child is unique, so is each teacher and each community. The decision to individualize and how to do so must be based on the needs and capabilities of each local district.

But I am concerned that support for the philosophy behind individualized instruction spread through each school district from administrators and teachers to parents and students. Total support is necessary if individualized instruction is to be successful.

To this end, my office is initiating a campaign of support for and encouragement of individualized instruction by a series of 15 summer workshops, jointly sponsored by my office and the Illinois Association of School Administrators, to acquaint administrators and curriculum specialists with the ideas involved in individualization and with various ways the ideas can be put to work.

The ten affiliate schools of the Illinois Network for School Development, a program geared toward innovation, are also working with the concepts and methods of individualized instruction in planning their new programs. They are trying to tailor the educational program to fit each child's needs by involving the community as well as parents and teachers.

Yet individualized instruction is in no way a mandate. We offer our encouragement and support, whether through workshops or consultation with districts, purely as a service. We wish to assist schools in becoming more humane, and teachers in becoming more effective.

Every good teacher wants his students to learn. He is happy with and for them when they succeed. He therefore tries his best to make it possible for his students to learn. He notices what kinds of activities and presentations and materials each child responds to, and tries to provide each child each day with some means to success. This kind of teaching undoubtedly takes place at some time every day in every classroom in Illinois. It is the essence of individualized instruction. Our aim is merely to increase the frequency of this kind of teaching, to enable schools and teachers to encourage it and plan for it.

Too often the educational process is geared to the lowest common denominator—the average child. "Average progress" becomes the goal, and those who do a little better or a little worse are merely variations in the pattern. Everyone is treated the same—it's up to the child to conform.

But what of a child's potential? What of his hidden abilities, his personal goals? When "average progress" is the most expected, why should a student or a teacher give the most?

Individualization—humanization—addresses these questions. It expects each child to learn as much as he can, but doesn't punish him for learning less than anyone else. It lets him show what he can do, yet lets him try new things without fear of failure. It lets a child in on the decisions that affect his daily activities—it gives him choices, any of which are acceptable and worthwhile. Individualization makes it possible for more children to not only learn more skills, but also develop their intellectual and social capacities—it gives them a greater chance to become what they have the potential to be.

Even free market price of gold is suspect now

By IRVINE W. REYNOLDS
Copley News Service

ZURICH — When the free market price of gold advanced to $127 an ounce, or about three times the official rate, European bankers were asking the question: how long can these rates continue? The potential for profit by central banks, pledged to buy and sell gold only to each other, is enormous.

One authority terms the official price as clearly nonsense. Moreover, reports have appeared in the European press suggesting that at least one central bank has opened an "unofficial account" on the side, and is buying gold in the expectation of a future profit.

Other central banks are reported to be selling with Middle Eastern oil interests anxious to exchange excess dollars for the yellow metal. All of this seems to demonstrate that the real value of gold is impossible to gauge when the official price remained at $35 an ounce during three decades of worldwide inflation.

Even the free market price is suspect for the reason that it has been illegal for Americans to buy gold bullion for investment purposes since 1934. The price of gold was $35.67 an ounce immediately prior to the passage of this legislation. Violation of this law carries a penalty of up to 10 years in prison, a $10,000 fine, or both.

It is not difficult to imagine the additional demand that would be made on the world's gold stocks if this law were not in force. Nevertheless, given the situation as it exists today, the managers of three large American banks in Switzerland expressed the opinion that the dollar would gain some ground — with a corresponding decline in gold prices — during the remainder of 1973.

Gold reached a new peak in the free market about the time that the U.S. government announced a trade surplus during the first quarter of 1973. This was interpreted as evidence that the year will bring some improvement in the balance of payments situation, which deteriorated in 1971 and 1972 when trade accounts were in deficit.

One Swiss banker, noting that the dollar was trading between 3.085 and 3.11 francs, warned that the government might be forced to intervene to "prop the rate" if it should remain persistently below 3.10 to "protect Swiss exporters from being priced out of world markets."

This is an indication that the joint float of European Common Market currencies may not remain a simple matter of free market supply and demand; rather, central banks will give some support to the dollar whenever their trade is threatened.

Aside from deep concern about the U.S. political situation following the Watergate affair, Europeans are skeptical that inflation can be contained within the Nixon administration's 3 per cent goals unless there is a sharp cooling of the demand generated by an overheated economy.

LIFESAVING BARRIER --- These barrels placed in front of a fixed road barrier on an interstate highway could save many dollars and many lives.

Barrels save lives

By MARY LOU MANNING
Copley News Service

SPRINGFIELD — Someone there's a truck driver who's convinced he's still breathing because when he struck a bridge abutment in East St. Louis, he first hit a series of barrels.

The barrels are part of the Fitch Inertial Barrier system, developed by Indianapolis race car driver John Fitch and are one type of impact attenuators being used in Illinois.

Impact attenuators are devices placed in front of a fixed road barrier, such as gorges or bridge abutments, to minimize injury and damage by a vehicle upon impact. In other words, they "turn hard corners into soft ones," according to a Fitch publication. It works on the basis of the transference of moving energy from car to barrel.

The Fitch system employs 11 to 12 polyethylene foam modules filled with from 90 to 2,100 pounds of sand and polyethylene cores. The modules are placed closest to the vehicles have less sand and more core than those in front of the hazard.

The Department of Transportation first installed the sag yellow barrels at four locations in Champagne in October, 1972.

"Our experience has shown that they work," explained L. J. Weathers, traffic service division of DOT. "This is best reflected by the fact that we seldom apprehend anyone who hits one."

Other DOT Fitch installations are located in East St. Louis, and the Chicago Tollway Authority has put in several barrel systems in front of tollway booths in that area.

The other type attenuator used in the state is the "bi-dro" cut, which is a moderate system. This small system employs many vinyl cells, each about 5 inches in diameter and 40 inches high, filled with a liquid which will not freeze. Upon impact, the liquid spurs from the cells as they reduce the speed of the moving vehicle.

Because the cells are encased by a sophisticated back-up and anchor system, this system is more expensive than the barrels. Costwise, the cell unit costs between $2,000 and $25,000 plus site preparation. The barrel system falls within a $2,000 to $5,000 range. However, maintenance on the cell unit falls well below that of the barrel. When a cell unit is hit little clean-up is necessary whereas the same debris is free and cumbersome and they are often reusable.

Before it is decided which unit is best for a site, several considerations must be made such as traffic volume and available space. Generally, the "bi-dro" unit will fit in a tight space and create less of a mess when hit but is more expensive.

At the present time, studies are being conducted to identify some 120-140 locations where the attenuators may be used. Such things as accident rate and cost are the major factors under study.

"We have provided $200,000 in the 1974 programs for the impact attenuators," stated Weathers.

He stressed that the devices are "not a penalty for bad driving but something to save lives."

ENJOYING THE WATER. Joey Whitted, 13 months, splashes his way along from instructor Danni Lehmkuhl to his mother in one of the YMCA's Parent-Tot water orientation classes.

Parent-tot classes underway

The second of three sessions of the YMCA's parent-tot water orientation classes will be concluded Wednesday at the YMCA pool. Registration for the third session starting on Monday, July 30, is open now at the YMCA program office.

Parent-tot classes are offered to children from 6 months to 4 years and their parents.

Objectives of the classes are to provide pre-school children with an enjoyable orientation to the water and provide the parents with skills they can use in working in the water with their child outside of class.

Parents' attitudes and interest are the keys to success for the program, instructors say, and frequent practice for children this age is important.

More information may be obtained by contacting the YMCA program office.

Age gap impact cited

St. Charles, Mo. — An editorial decrying a serious gap in guidance services for late teenage offenders in the state of Connecticut won the annual Golden Quill Award for editorial writing for Robert Estabrook, editor and publisher of the 4,000-circulation weekly Lakeville (Conn.) Journal.

The award, sponsored by the International Conference of Weekly Newspaper Editors, was presented Thursday night at an annual dinner meeting of the Sigma Delta Chi journalistic society. The dinner was a feature of the 19th annual IC-

WNE convention held July 15-20 at Pere Marquette State Park near Grafton.

Estabrook's winning editorial was titled "A Boy's Teen" and revealed how a 16-year-old youth from the Lakeville area nearly had to undergo amputation from frostbite because he had been released from a state training school.

The state's legal jurisdiction had expired a short time earlier and he was no longer eligible for help as a minor. But he was not yet old enough to become eligible for assistance as an adult.

Bakery robbed of $37

Two young bandits escaped with $37 in a holdup at the Holmwood Bakery, 1755 Ponton Road, at 9:30 p.m. Thursday.

The clerk at the bakery told police that the two entered the store and held her up, with one carrying a blue snub-nose revolver.

She said they took two $10 bills, one $5 bill and 12 $1 bills and ran from the store toward Muro Avenue.

Both were described as being 18 to 20, about 5 feet, 4 inches and of small build. She said the one with the gun was blond and wore a T-shirt and jeans while the other had dark hair and wore a plaid shirt and jeans.

Amvets get Marine award

A Marine Corps award was presented to Amvets Post 51 by representatives of the Marine Corps Recruiting office in East St. Louis during a meeting of the post last week. The award was made in appreciation of the Amvets action in permitting the Marines to be a part of the float entered in the Shriners parade here in May.

The float depicted the flag raising on Iwo Jima during World War II. The Marines were front and rear guards on the Post 51 float. The award was presented to Adam Petros, commander of Post 51, by Sgt. Charles Greeley of the Marine Corps Recruiting office.

Other guests at the meeting were Chief Petty Officer Robert
